Outline

- 1 Major Actions
- 2 Changes of Scope
- 3 Measures
- 4 Road Blocks
- 5 Are we on time?

Actions Taken

- Fixed the manual matching feature
- Added the ability to add items to the the database
- Continued working on the website, implementing login and authorization

Things to work on

- Testing
- Implementing the bidding process on the website
  - ▶ User Portal:
    - ★ Browse/Search for items from the database
    - ★ Select multiple items and enter the total bid amount
    - ★ View Bid Status
  - ▶ Admin Portal:
    - ★ View incoming bids
    - ★ Accept/Reject bids
    - ★ Send out SMS/Email notifications on bid status changes
- Have a system to contact the site administrator with each bid offer

Tools Used

- Barcode Scanner
- Pipedrive API
- UPCDatabase API
- Render
- MongoDB
- WooCommerce
- Wordpress
- NextJS
- Oauth
- Redis
- ReactJS
- ExpressJS

Changes of Scope

- I got more clarity on the requirements of the website, which led me to ditch woocommerce/wordpress/shopify in favor of a custom solution using NextJS and ExpressJS

Measures

- Percent of SKUs that have UPCs
- Sales Cycle Time: This year, we've taken 24 hours on average between received and Ready to be paid, which in the future could be reduced to under 8 hours (within one workday)

Measures

- Order Quantity and Profit

Road Blocks

- having the inventory display on the website and having the changes reflected in the database
